

Appendix 2~ Parent Survey

Monday, May 13th, 2002.

Dear Parents,

As the year draws to a close, I have stopped to reflect on all the learning that has taken place in my classroom this year. As you know, I have been conducting research during this past year on my reading program. I have now fully implemented Guided Reading into my teaching practice. Your child has spent the year learning to read using levelled reading materials aimed at his/her current reading level.

I would appreciate if you would take the time to provide me with your input. Could you please fill in the following questions and return the page to me by Friday, May 17th? Your feedback about your child's progress and my teaching practice is very important to me. Thank you in advance for your time and consideration.

Have you noticed any improvement in your child's reading ability as the year progressed? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - interest in books - comprehension of what is happening in a story - ability to read aloud - adding expression in his/her voice when reading to you - telling you about strategies he/she is using to decode unknown words - other comments
Did your child choose to read at home without prompting from you?
Did you feel you were kept informed about how your child was learning to read and his/her progress?
Any other comments you'd like to share with me about your child and reading:
